

Balay de la Rama is proud to offer to our guests a taste of countryside through a tour of our coconut farm. This ancestral farm has been with the family for more than a century, and has its fair share of humble history, from its giant volcanic rock sitting majestically on its slope, to the neighboring WW II Japanese tunnel just beside it. Located 15 minutes walk from the bed & breakfast, the coconut farm offers exclusive view to Mount Mayon and Cagsawa Ruins.

Jess will go with you through the plants which growing over there: papaya, bananas, calamanci, cacao and of course the coconuts. The tour includes fresh coconut-tasting and our farmer will make a demonstration how to harvest coconuts. This is intended to be a laid-back rural experience, so take time to enjoy the fresh air, smell the raincoated earth and just...think of your grandfather's farm back home.
